

CATERING FOR CHILDREN

Cheese can play an important - and delicious - part of a healthy balanced diet for children of all ages. Cheese is a concentrated form of milk and can contribute to a child's intake of certain nutrients that are essential for growing bodies and minds.

Mild cheddar with its delicate, creamy taste is always a favourite with children but don't be afraid to branch out. Britain now produces over 700 named cheeses ranging from tangy West Country Farmhouse Cheddar and crumbly Cheshire to Blue Stilton and creamy Lancashire. And there are probably plenty of other types of cheese being produced in your region.

Growing children are always hungry and offering cheese on your menu as part of a dish or as a snack will provide a tasty food that they will enjoy.

Cooking with Cheese

Importantly for school caterers cooking with cheese is quick, simple and is excellent value for money.

In its guide to introducing the Government's new food based standards for school lunches, The School Food Trust states that "A food from the milk and dairy foods group should be available on a daily basis." This group includes milk, cheese, yoghurt (including frozen and drinking yoghurt) fromage frais and custard but not butter and cream.

Cheese is one of the most versatile foods around – and it's natural. It can be grated, sliced, crumbled, cubed, baked and melted so is excellent for using in a wide variety of cooked dishes. For some recipes, stronger tasting cheeses such as Mature Cheddar or Blue Stilton can be used in smaller quantities to give the same flavour. Another helpful tip to help regulate portion size is to either grate the cheese or use a cheese plane to make sandwiches and rolls.

This leaflet includes a selection of recipes to give you an idea of how cheese can easily be incorporated into school meals. For more recipe ideas please visit: www.britishcheese.com

Nutrients in Cheese

Eating a balanced diet that is rich in calcium together with taking regular weight bearing exercise can help to build healthy bones. This is particularly important during childhood and adolescence when the majority of bone growth takes place.

Hard cheese is a source of calcium.

A 25 gram piece of Cheddar (the size of a small matchbox) provides 185 mg of calcium - 34% of the Reference Nutrient Intake (RNI) for 7-10 year old children

A 30 gram portion of Cheddar provides 222 mg of calcium - 28% of the RNI for girls aged 11 to 14 years

A 45 gram piece of Cheddar provides 333g of calcium - 33% of the RNI for boys aged 11 to 14 years.

Hard cheese also contains protein, Vitamin B12 and the mineral phosphorus. Protein is essential for growth and development; Vitamin B12 for red blood cell formation and normal function of the immune system and phosphorus is needed for maintenance of strong bones.

Fat Content of Cheese

It is the fat in cheese that provides its great taste and texture. A 30 gram portion of Cheddar (the size of a small matchbox), contains 10.5 grams of fat and just 125 calories. Reduced fat cheeses are available and may be appropriate for some recipe applications. Alternatively if you are looking to reduce the amount of fat in a specific dish, simply use less of a stronger tasting cheese.

Cheese - a positive choice

Cheese can play a positive and enjoyable role in a healthy, balanced diet for people of all ages. The Food Standards Agency "Eatwell Plate" includes milk and dairy foods (including cheese) and recommends that we should include these in our daily diet.

Recipe Suggestions

The following recipe suggestions from the British Cheese Board have been compiled with ease of use and nutrition in mind. Each recipe can be easily adapted to include different vegetables to those suggested and to cater for larger numbers.

Stilton and Celery Wraps

Wraps make the perfect snack - they're quick, easy and absolutely delicious. Try these variations on a theme, using two types of Stilton cheese.

Serves 4

2 plain wraps
2 tomato-flavoured wraps
1 x 200g tub low fat soft cheese
A few Iceberg or Romaine lettuce leaves, shredded
3 celery sticks, thinly sliced
1 small red onion, very thinly sliced
75g (3oz) White Stilton with Apricots
75g (3oz) Blue Stilton
Freshly ground black pepper

1. Lay the wraps out on a flat surface. Spread an equal amount of soft cheese over each wrap.
2. Scatter shredded lettuce, celery and onion over each wrap - but not too close to the edge. Season with a little black pepper.
3. Crumble the White Stilton with Apricots over the two plain wraps, then crumble the Blue Stilton over the tomato-flavoured wraps. Roll up tightly and slice in half. Serve at once, or wrap in cling film and refrigerate to eat later.

Hot Cheddar Kebabs

This recipe uses tasty Farmhouse Cheddar cheese with ciabatta bread and plenty of chunky fresh vegetables.

Serves 4 (2 per serving)

225g (8oz) Farmhouse Cheddar cheese, cut into 16 cubes
½ ciabatta loaf with sun-dried tomatoes or olives, cut into 16 chunks
16 cherry tomatoes
1 red pepper, deseeded and cut into chunks
1 green pepper, deseeded and cut into chunks
Rosemary sprigs or fresh bay leaves
1 tablespoon olive oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Freshly ground black pepper

1. Thread the cubes of Farmhouse Cheddar cheese onto 8 wooden kebab sticks with the chunks of ciabatta bread, tomatoes and peppers, alternating the pieces and adding a couple of rosemary sprigs or fresh bay leaves to each one.
2. Make the baste by mixing together the olive oil, lemon juice and seasoning.
3. Preheat the barbecue, grill or char-grill pan. Brush the kebabs with the lemon juice baste - stirring it first to make sure that the ingredients are blended. Cook the brochettes for about 2 - 3 minutes, turning often, until the cheese just begins to melt and the bread begins to toast. Serve at once.

Double Gloucester, Ham and Vegetable Pasta Bake

Quick and easy to prepare, this recipe offers children a nutritious and tasty lunch option.

Serves 4

25g (1oz) butter
175g (6oz) pasta shapes

175g (6oz) baby corn, halved
3 tomatoes, chopped
1 x 275g jar tomato pasta sauce
100g (4oz) cooked ham, cut into pieces
175g (6oz) Double Gloucester cheese
1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil or oregano,
plus a few sprigs to garnish
Freshly ground black pepper
2 eggs
300g (10oz) natural Greek-style yoghurt

1. Preheat the oven to 200°C/400°F/Gas 6. Lightly grease a large baking dish or individual baking dishes with a teaspoon of the butter.
2. Cook the pasta shapes in plenty of boiling, lightly salted water until just tender, about 8 - 10 minutes, or according to pack instructions.
3. At the same time, melt the butter in a large saucepan and sauté the onion, courgette and baby corn for 5 minutes.
4. Thoroughly drain the pasta and add to the vegetables. Stir in the tomatoes and the pasta sauce. Add the ham, then cut half the cheese into small cubes and stir through the pasta mixture with the chopped fresh herbs. Season to taste then transfer to the prepared dish and level the top.
